Dear Gary Oldham,

This is the way I write letters if I have to.
Puzzled by the fact that my script handwriting is almost illegible, in 1973, during a congress of the 'Association Typographique Internationale', I proposed another direction in the education of handwriting for children.

Referring to your Handwritten-Letter Project, I thought it a good idea to send you a copy of my proposal, as published in 'Visible Language' in 1974.

It was just an idea, and never realised.
I hope this letter may find a place in your collection.

With best wishes,
